A Railroad War in Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA, February 16 Worth, is engaged in building a $29,555 12, an increase of $6,639.84 railroad to the latter hotel. The road cuts through many of the prettiest the railroad to a standstill for the present. The authorities have taken steps in the matter and James Holmes, a banker of Jensen. Fla. and J. F. Wooten, tax collector, of Brevard County, have been arrested for complicity in a dynamite plot. Holmes' lawyer has advised him to remove the dynamite and it is reported that he has agreed to do so. According to last reports the railroad officials were calling for volunteers to go ahead with the track laying.

We made, generally, good crops around Campton. And we also raise good hogs; some of us. Dr. Foster killed a pig recently, six months old, weighing 205 pounds.

I think our neighborhood is as prosperous as any I know-will not except any. Everybody attends to their business, and by so doing we have peace and something to live on.

The Greenville News suggests that Governor Tillman by proclamation declare a "close season" during which it will be uplawful for the spies to shoot people. From the first of March until laying-by time they ought not to be shot down. Then between laying-by time and fodder-pulling the constables might enjoy their sport, but in gathering time there should be no killing. That is a good suggestion and we hope the governor will carry it out. We also hope that he will issue an order preventing "still-hunting." The old hunters tell how, long ago, they would go out with torches and shine the eyes of a deer in the night and in a most quiet and adroit manner get close cotton farming, I am prompted to add enough to him for a skilled marksman, mine, and the following calculations to plug him between his eyes.
